A $1,200 prize is awarded to the first-place winner in each category. The second-place winner in each category is awarded $800 and the third-place winner in each category is awarded $400. In 2020, the first-place Instrumental Award was named in memory of Anita Lamkin, a longtime friend of young musicians and supporter of music performances in McLean.

Winning students must possess a valid US Social Security Card and submit a completed W-9 for prizes to be awarded. Prize money is sent as a check from Fairfax County Government within 30 days of receipt of the winner's W9 following the competition.

JUDGES

Professional performing and teaching artists in each of the disciplines act as judges for the competition. All participants who submit a complete application will compete in the preliminary round of their category. Judges select three finalists for each category who will compete in the final round. Finalists will receive notes from the judges. The same judges will choose a first, second and third place winner at the time of the final competition. If, in any round, the judges determine that three finalists of superior artistic ability cannot be identified within a particular category, they reserve the right to limit the number of awards made in that category or to make no awards in that category. All decisions of the judges are final.

FEE

Students may enter to compete in more than one category, but separate application forms must be completed for each entry. There is a $20 application fee for each entry. Secure links to pay by credit card can or the Payment Authorization Form to pay by check (made out to McLean Community Center) can be found in this guide and at <https://mcleancenter.org/performing-arts/community-arts-2>.
